

Jeremy Putnam - Technical Artist

jp@jeremyputnam.com

Summary

Over five years experience at Riot Games rigging new characters and props, writing content tools and exporters, setting up new users, collaborating with artists and engineers. Grew with Riot from an art team of seven to over one hundred with all of the complexity and challenges that implies. Go-to troubleshooter for when mysterious things happen in authoring software, version control, or in game.

Professional Experience

Technical Artist, Riot Games, Los Angeles, CA (2010 - 2015)

- Heavily involved in content creation pipeline for League of Legends characters
- Developed tools and processes for art department using Python, Javascript, Qt including exporters, rig components, reference managers, animation tools, etc.
- Rigged and weighted hundreds of new skins, characters, and props.
- Taught rigging and other technical processes one-on-one and in group classes.
- Animated new champions and skins, polished existing animation.
- Collaborated with other TAs/ artists/ engineers on pipeline and game features.

Software and Languages

Autodesk Maya - 8+ years experience including animation, modeling, rigging, writing tools

Python - 5+ years experience writing artist tools, exporters, libraries, etc.

Qt - 3+ years developing UI for artists tools, mostly using PyQt

Photoshop - 10+ years experience as an artist, 2+ years experience writing tools

Javascript - 3+ years experience writing tools for Photoshop

Perforce - 5+ years working with P4 version control, setting up new users, etc.

Others - Dabbles in C#, Unity, and web-development languages of various kinds

Education

Ringling College of Art and Design, Sarasota FL

Bachelor of Fine Arts in Computer Animation – May, 2010 Graduate

Other Skills / Interests

- Concept Art/ Illustration - especially fond of digital painting and working on comics.
- Life-long history of tabletop gaming, including card games, board games, and tabletop RPGs.
 - Ran a four-year-long DnD campaign in college with a friend, hundreds of sessions.
 - Loves painting miniatures and terrain for DnD, Warhammer 40k, etc.
 - Likes to stare at character progression tables and min-max feat selection for hours.
- Can sorta-get-by playing guitar for many songs. Also enjoys singing.
- Has been described as a pretty snazzy dancer.

References available on request.